CRESSON, TX

gettin' started

When the cowboys made it back to the bunkhouse at days end, Cookie would have some finger foods ready for 'em while supper finished cookin'.

HAND BATTERED ONION RINGS – A basket full of fresh white onions sliced thick, lightly seasoned, twice battered, and fried to a golden brown...some like it with a bit of ranch dressing for dippin' and such.

SMOKED CHICKEN POPPERS – Skinless chicken breast, cut in chunks, in a fresh jalapeño shell, with a fresh white onion, wrapped in bacon and roasted over a mesquite fire. Six to an order served with our own Southwest Honey Mustard sauce...it's real good eatin' (course, for you city folk we got regular Honey Mustard too).
4.99

TUMBLEWEED NACHOS - A rustic rendition of an old favorite, we mound freshly fried white corn chips in a basket, ladle our home cooked pinto beans on top with freshly shredded cheddar and Monterey Jack cheese and fresh chopped jalapeños...it don't get any better'n this here.
4.99

Course, if you was to add some BBQ meat, you can choose from chopped brisket (kind of a sweet & sour flavor), or chopped chicken breast, or chopped regular or jalapeño sausage.

TUMBLEWILLAS - Tex-Mex meets BBQ. We take a 12" flour tortilla, put your choice of chicken, chopped brisket, regular or jalapeño sausage, with cheddar and Monterey Jack and Pico de Gallo, cook it over a mesquite grill then serve it with fire roasted salsa and sour cream...them there's some good groceries.

COOKIE'S CHEESE FRIES - This here is Cookie's favorite. Course he's a big fella, so he puts a bunch of fries in a basket and melts some cheese on 'em, then puts bacon bits on top...mercy it gets mighty quiet when that makes the table.

We call 'em Boss. Some of the fellows that have been with him since the start say his name is Mike, but no one call's 'em that, simply Boss. Years ago he started out with a small spread outside of Stephenville. He was good with cattle and the land. Next thing you knew he was one of the biggest operators around.

Drovin' cattle is long hard work and Boss knew he had to take care of his men if he wanted to keep 'em. He was fair and paid top dollar. Most important, he made sure we ate well. That's where Cookie comes in. Cookie was the only one who called Boss Mike, I suppose cause he'd been with 'em from the start.

After years of workin' together, they decided to share their "Taste of Texas" with the general public.

That's how Tumbleweed Bar-B-Que & Mesquite Grilled Steaks come to be. Recreatin' that warm feelin' of the bunkhouse with the same great food that's kept us with 'em all these years.

We know ya'll are gonna enjoy it as much as we do. We hope this "Taste of Texas" keeps ya'll comin' back again and again.

desserts

TUMBLEWEED BREAD PUDDING - Cookie got this here out of one of them magazines. He'd take some bread, soak it in milk, eggs and cream, throw in some fresh strawberries, bitter-sweet chocolate, put some cinnamon, fresh ground nutmeg and bake it off...then he'd make up some Jack Daniels sauce to go on top...he couldn't make it fast enough.

4.99

HOMEMADE BANANA PUDDING - We make it right here, with fresh 'nanas on top. It's one of the best in these parts...

FRESH PEACH COBBLER - Baked fresh daily Ms. Boss won't give Cookie the recipe, she just brings it out to 'em.

2.99 w/ice cream 3.99

BRUSH FIRE BROWNIE - This here Cookie got from a trip over the border. He'd make up some chocolate brownie, put walnuts in, and add a pinch of Ancho Chili, then he'd serve it warm with a scoop of vanilla ice cream on top with some cinnamon sprinkled over it...wow were we surprised.

salads & such

One time on a trail drive Boss sent Cookie to a town we was passin' by for supplies. Cookie got to lookin' at this magazine (Cookie don't read so good but he could see the pictures fine) so he come back with some new ideas of what to feed us.

TOWN OF THE COW SALAD - Helpin' of sliced steak, with cherry tomatoes, chopped red onion, sliced black olives and fire roasted salsa and lettuce on a big plate. It'll set you free.

TUMBLEWEED YARD BIRD - We thought Cookie plum lost his mind when he took mesquite smoked chicken, cheddar and Monterey jack, Pico de Gallo and spicy roasted walnuts on a bed of lettuce...boy was we wrong!

7.49

PRAIRIE ROLL - This was a big hit with the boys. Sliced mesquite smoked chicken breast, with bacon, lettuce, Pico de Gallo, cheddar and Monterey jack cheese rolled up in a flour tortilla, served with fries...we thought we'd died n' gone to heaven.

6.49

RANGE ROLL - This here got some sliced steak, pinto beans, fire roasted salsa, that cheese blend. Cookie likes so much and lettuce, rolled up in a flour tortilla, warmed on a griddle, with a helpin' of fries...tell you what this here's finer'n frog hair.

6.99

TUMBLEWEED BURGER - Cookie plum out done himself on this here. Twice ground brisket, hand formed to 1/2 lbs. patty, mesquite grilled, served on a toasted bun with lettuce, tomato, pickle, onion and a helpin' of fries.

6.99

add cheese .50 cents add bacon .75 cents
